I'd like my project to be about REST resources, and how they'll show a list of recipes. If they want, a user will be able to look up a recipe and if it does not exist then they'll have the option to go back and search for another recipe or the option to add it to the list.